Specifications for 3/8" Salt & Pepper Granite (#89)

Salt & Pepper Granite is a hard stone that is great for a variety of applications. Due to the density and non-porous nature of the stone, it can withstand the test of time when applied in high traffic areas or simply used for decorative purposes in the landscape or garden. Salt and pepper granite aggregate has a speckled color profile made up of light gray to white minerals (like quartz or feldspar) mixed with black or dark gray grains (typically biotite or hornblende), creating a high-contrast, medium-gray appearance overall. When wet or sealed, the colors appear richer and more pronounced; when dry, they look lighter and more muted.

Installation Suggestions for Professionals:

It is recommended to install Tahitian Granite at a depth of 3". If installed as a pathway, walkway or landscape gravel, keep material in place with edging. For applications like driveways, parking lots or warning tracks, it is recommended to use a roller to compact the gravel in place post installation.
